

MAIN CAMPUS: CENTER TWP., BEAVER COUNTY

A FULL CONTINUUM OF CARE IN ONE CONVENIENT LOCATION

24-Hour Admission | In-Network with Most Major Insurance Plans

Residential Treatment

Withdrawal Management | Short and Long-Term Inpatient

Focus on early recovery skills, build a healthy foundation for long-term success, and gain a deep understanding of the disease of addiction. In addition to daily clinical therapy schedules, these programs also offer art and music therapy, adventurebased counseling, fitness programs such as boxing and yoga, equine therapy, spiritual counseling, health education programs, life skills development, family programming, 12-step facilitation, medication management, peer recovery support, age-specific units, volunteerism, relapse prevention, and mental health care.

Outpatient Counseling

Group and Individual Sessions | Medication Management

Through a wide variety of program options, patients can personalize their outpatient care to best fit their needs, learn how to apply recovery skills in every day life, and build a strong recovery network. Patients can access in-person counseling, telehealth counseling, telehealth psychiatric support, and medication management. Patients who transition from residential treatment on campus will also have the added convenience and continuity of working with the same medical team for their medication management. Loved ones receive family programming as well.

Transitional Living

Safe, Supportive Environment | Private Pay

Named after a former president of the board of directors, Tom Rutter, this space can house up to 12 residents and one residential manager, all male. The recently renovated Tom Rutter House provides a helpful transition into more independence while having the ability to lean on peers who are also living in recovery and can hold each other accountable. Residents can also engage in outpatient counseling on campus and utilize other campus amenities.
